

YOU ARE INVITED!!!!

What: Advanced Practicum Student Research Poster Presentations

When: Thursday, April 26th , 4:30pm to 7:00pm ET

Location: 210 White Hall, Kent State University OR via Blackboard Wimba

Please be sure to RSVP with Ashley Lyons (anlyons@kent.edu) by April 25th if you would like to join virtually

About

Kent State Advanced Practicum students conduct a participatory action research study (PAR) in the practicum setting to provide them with an opportunity to identify and respond to student and/or instructional need(s) in the classroom. This semester-long project provides students critical experience with collecting, analyzing, and interpreting data while also demonstrating the link between the emergence of evidence-base practices (EBP) and the research process.

Please Note:

Titles of Student Research are not final, and some students may be sharing a recorded (Jing Screencast) Poster Presentation. We hope to see you there!

Topics

- Using Sign to Increase Functional Communication for a Child with Autism
- Use of a Token Economy to Improve Attending for a Child with Autism
- Effects of Story Mapping on Young Children's Reading Comprehension
- Use of Constant Time Delay to Improve Color Identification
- Circle of Friends: Investigating the impact of a peer group strategy to improve the social inclusion of a child with a disability